- (b) the registered currency processor or the financial institution, or its director or chief executive officer, or any person concerned with its operation or management—
 - (i) is carrying or has carried on currency processing business or currency processing activities in a manner detrimental to the interests of its customers or members of the public; or
 - (ii) is committing or has committed, or is likely to commit a breach.

(2) For the purpose of subsection (1), the Bank may issue a direction to the registered currency processor or the financial institution relating to one or more of the following purposes:

- (a) to prohibit the registered currency processor or the financial institution from carrying on all or any part of its currency processing business or currency processing activities;
- (b) to prohibit the registered currency processor or the financial institution from doing or performing any act or function connected with all or any part of its currency processing business or currency processing activities;
- (c) to suspend its currency processing business or currency processing activities to any extent and for any period as the Bank deems fit;

- (d) to require the registered currency processor or financial institution to—
 - (i) comply with or give effect to; or
 - (ii) do or omit any act in order to ensure compliance with,
 - any provisions of, regulations, standards, specifications, directions or requirements made under, this Act; or
- (e) to require the registered currency processor or financial institution to take any measure as the Bank may direct to mitigate the effect of a breach.

Power to take administrative action

48. (1) Where the Bank thinks that a registered currency processor or a financial institution, or its director or chief executive officer, or any person concerned with its operation or management, has committed a breach and it is appropriate to take action against the person, the Bank may, subject to sections 49 and 50, take any one or more of the following actions:

- (a) reprimand the person in breach;
- (b) require the person in breach to issue a public statement in relation to such breach, if the Bank thinks that such breach is relevant for the information of members of the public; or
- (c) where the breach is not an offence under this Act or any regulations made under this Act, impose a monetary penalty, in any amount as the Bank deems fit, but shall not exceed, relating to every breach—
 - (i) in the case of a body corporate, one hundred thousand ringgit; or
 - (ii) in the case of a natural person, twenty thousand ringgit.

(2) Where a breach was committed by a body corporate, the Bank may take any action under subsection (1) against a person who is or was its director or chief executive officer, or any person concerned with its operation or management, at the time of the commission of the breach, unless that person demonstrates that the breach was committed without his consent or connivance and that he exercised due diligence to prevent the breach as he ought to have exercised, having regard to the nature of his function in that capacity and to the circumstances.

(3) Where a breach was committed by a person who is a director or chief executive officer, or any person concerned with the operation or management, of a registered currency processor or a financial institution during the course of his employment, the Bank may take any action under subsection (1) against the registered currency processor or financial institution.

(4) Where a person fails to pay a monetary penalty imposed by the Bank under paragraph (1)(c) within the period specified by the Bank, the Bank may sue and recover the monetary penalty as a civil debt due to the Government and the court may award the cost of recovering the unpaid monetary penalty to the Bank.

Appropriateness of action

49. In determining the appropriate action to be taken by the Bank against a person under section 47 or 48, the Bank shall take into consideration the following matters:

- (a) the effectiveness of the action to be taken;
- (b) the proportionality of the action to be taken with the findings of an examination or breach committed;
- (c) deterrence of future breach of similar nature by a registered currency processor, a financial institution or other person; and
- (d) any other matters as the Bank deems fit.

Opportunity to make representation for action under section 47 or 48

50. (1) Where the Bank proposes to take any action against a person under section 47 or 48, the Bank shall provide to the person a notice setting out the proposed action and the grounds for the proposed action.

(2) Any person who has received a notice under subsection (1) shall be given an opportunity to make a representation to the Bank within fourteen days from the date of the notice.

(3) If at the end of the period set out in subsection (2)—

(a) the Bank did not receive any representation, the Bank shall proceed with the proposed action; or

(b) the Bank receives a representation, the Bank shall, after considering the representation, decide whether to—

(i) proceed with the proposed action;

(ii) modify the proposed action; or

(iii) take no further action,

and shall inform its decision to the person by a notice.

(4) If the Bank decides to modify the proposed action under subparagraph (3)(b)(ii), the Bank shall provide an additional notice and an opportunity to the person to make a representation.

(5) The decision of the Bank under paragraph (3)(b) shall take effect at any date as specified by the Bank in its notice.

Appeal against monetary penalty

51. (1) Any person who is aggrieved by a decision of the Bank under subsection 50(3) may, within twenty one days after the person has been notified of the decision of the Bank, make an appeal by filing a notice to the Monetary Penalty Review Committee.

(2) The decision of the Bank under subsection 50(3) shall not take effect until the appeal is disposed of.

(3) The Monetary Penalty Review Committee may decide to confirm the decision of the Bank or require the Bank to reconsider and reach a decision in accordance with the findings of the Committee.

Division 2

Any person who contravenes this provision commits an offence and shall, on conviction, be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred thousand ringgit.

PART V

52. Part V contains provisions relating to enforcement.

Division 1

Actions by Bank

53. Clause 46 provides that a registered currency processor or a financial institution, or its director, chief executive officer or any person concerned with the operation or management, commits a breach under the proposed Act if the registered currency processor or the financial institution, or its director, chief executive officer or any person concerned with the operation or management, fails to comply with any provision of the proposed Act or any regulations, standards, specifications, directions or requirements made under the proposed Act.

54. Clause 47 seeks to empower the Bank to issue directions to a registered currency processor or a financial institution, or its director or chief executive officer, or any person concerned with its operation or management, if the Bank deems fit to do so based on the examination of any person under the proposed Act.

55. Clause 48 seeks to empower the Bank to take administrative action where the Bank thinks that a registered currency processor or a financial institution, or its director or chief executive officer, or any person concerned with its operation or management, has committed a breach. Where the breach is not an offence under the proposed Act or any regulations made under the proposed Act, the Bank could also impose a monetary penalty in such amount as the Bank deems fit but shall not exceed one hundred thousand ringgit for every breach in the case of a body corporate or twenty thousand ringgit for every breach in the case of an individual.

56. Clause 49 provides that in determining the appropriate action to be taken, the Bank shall take into consideration the effectiveness of the action, the proportionality of the action with the findings of an examination or breach committed or deterrence of future breach of similar nature by a registered currency processor, a financial institution or other person and any other matter as the Bank deems fit.

57. Clause 50 provides that where the Bank proposes to take any action against a person under clause 47 or 48, the Bank shall give the person an opportunity to represent himself.

58. Clause 51 provides that any person who is aggrieved by a decision of the Bank in relation to the monetary penalty may make an appeal by filing a notice to the Monetary Penalty Review Committee and the decision of the Bank shall not take effect until the appeal is disposed of.

Division 2

Criminal action

59. Clause 52 provides that where an offence is committed by a body corporate or unincorporated, a person who is its director or chief executive officer, or any person concerned with its operation or management, at the time of the commission of the offence is deemed to have committed that offence unless that person proves that the offence was committed without his consent or connivance and that he exercised such diligence to prevent the commission of the offence, having regard to the nature of his function in that capacity and to the circumstances. This clause does not absolve the criminal liability of the body corporate or unincorporated.

60. Clause 53 provides that where an offence is committed by an employee or officer in the course of his employment or an agent while acting within its authority as an agent, the employer or the principal of the person, at the time of the commission of the offence is deemed to have committed that offence and be liable to the same penalty for the offence committed by the employee, the officer or the agent.

61. Clause 54 provides that any person who attempts to commit an offence under the proposed Act, does an act preparatory to, or in furtherance of, the commission of an offence under the proposed Act or abets or is engaged in a criminal conspiracy to commit an offence under the proposed Act, commits an offence and is liable to the same penalty for that offence whether or not the offence is committed in consequence of it.

62. Clause 55 provides that every offence punishable under the proposed Act shall be a seizable offence and a police officer not below the rank of Inspector may arrest without warrant a person whom he reasonably suspects to have committed or is committing the offence.

63. Clause 56 provides that notwithstanding anything contained in any other written law, where a person is accused of more than one offence under the proposed Act, he may be charged with and tried at one trial for any number of such offences committed within any length of time.

64. Clause 57 seeks to empower the Governor, with the approval of the Public Prosecutor, to compound any offence committed by any person punishable under the proposed Act.

65. Clause 58 provides that the prosecution for an offence under the proposed Act shall be instituted with the written consent of the Public Prosecutor.
